Australian Ponies May Lower Mile Record

FAST RACE PROMISED FOR "A" CLASS ENCOUNTER

$2 Pari Mutuel To Be Tried

BY "MORNING DEW"

There should be a very big attendance at the course to-day when the Eighth Extra Race Meeting of the Hong Kong Jockey Club will be held. The tit-bit of the programme is the one mile race for Australian ponies in which all the best sprinters are engaged. There should be a terrific pace throughout and I confidently expect the record to be lowered. Bronze Era will be hard to beat.

The meeting will be the first in which the $2 pari-mutuel will be introduced.

Soldier of Germany and Wayward Stag are nominated for the Daily Double. Wayward Stag however, will find plenty of opposition in her race as Valorous, Racing Boy, Lemberg, The Tiger, What A Chance and Zero are all there and over six furlongs any of these ponies might win.

"Hem" Candidate For First Race

The opening race over a mile is likely to draw a field of at least ten, of which there will be two candidates from the "Hem" Stable. Macaroni and Gladiator both winners at the last meeting. Of the two Macaroni's lightweight appeals and on the whole it appears as if Macaroni will win.

The place positions will be very difficult to pick. If Brechin strikes good form, he should be very hard to beat, but his last public appearance was not convincing, and I shall leave him out.

Bright View is looking very fit these days and with only 156 pounds, I think he will put up a good show. Another pony which might do well here is Mayflower who has been running very convincingly on the sand track during the last two weeks.

Mr. Davis will ride King's Bounty and as the pony has the comparatively light weight of 148 lbs. I expect him to provide the surprise, if there is going to be a surprise!

RACING FLUCK

In the second race there appears to be nothing among the entries to touch Racing Pluck, and I am in entire agreement with the handicapper who has given this pony the top weight. He should win. King's Parade at the last meeting carried 152 pounds and finished within a length and a half of Racing Pluck and with four pounds less to carry this afternoon, he should be a very good thing for a place.

Looking over the entries I see Chow Fan in at 140 pounds. As this pony is fairly good over middle distances, he should be able to run into a place. Hester Skelter and Chesterfield, if started here are good as "long shots" especially the former, who has a knack of surprising good fields on his day.

AUSTRALIANS "A" CLASS

This race should provide an excellent return-match for Australian Boy and The Goose who dead-heated at the last meeting. Both ponies are in fine fettle but over a longer distance, I think the weight might tell against Australian Boy's 146. "Friday, Empire Day and Glorious Star are good and it is difficult to pick any of them for a place, but "Friday is moving well these days and I shouldn't be surprised to see him run into a place. St. Joan is a good outsider here.

Some of the old stalwarts, Polar Star, Portia, Lucy Gitters, Rosy Morn and The Giraffe are in this race. Of this lot I like The Giraffe the best, but cannot shake off the feeling that he is outclassed. He is in at a very light weight and if he should manage to account for the favourites, there is a very big dividend coming to his supporters.

THE FIRST LEG

The first leg of the Daily Double is the six furlongs race for griffins which have not won more than $1,750 in stakes. Soldier of Germany is in at the comfortable weight of 153 pounds, and over six furlongs it will be no easy matter to catch him once he gets away with a good start. Another sprinter which I like very much is Mr. C. B. Brown's Budge. This pony is capable of giving the Soldier pony a race. What A Chance is a good sprinter, but I don't think he can stay six furlongs. Ribble is not a bad thing

TO-DAY'S SELECTIONS

- Race 1:—
Macaroni
Bright View
Mayflower
- Race 2:—
Racing Pluck
King's Parade
Chow Fan
- Race 3:—
Australian Boy
The Goose
Friday
- Race 4:—
Soldier of Germany
Budge
Ribble
- Race 5:—
Delightful Chance
The Bodega
Soldier of Italy
- Race 6:—
Wayward Stag
Valorous
Lemberg
- Race 7:—
Able Amazon (if started)
Bronze Era
Racing Heart
Just That
- Race 8:—
Colombo
Hey Tor
Festival Eve

here for a place, but in his case the distance is a bit too short for him to really give of his best.

ANOTHER CLOSE TUSSELE

The novices event promises to provide a keen struggle. F. F. L. will be riding Delightful Chance and his chances appear particularly bright. The strongest opposition is expected from The Bodega who will be ridden by Mr. C. Taylor. The pony is fit and is expected to run well. The next pony with a claim is Soldier of Italy, who will be ridden by Mr. Wm. Poy. Soldier of Italy moves very well in his morning workouts and it would not surprise me to see him extend the favourites. The Carp (Mr. Yue Shun Wah) is a good thing for a long shot, as although the pony is rather troublesome at the gate, his jockey should not find that too great a handicap in a race over a mile.

THE SECOND LEG

For the second leg of the "Daily Double" which is a handicap over six furlongs for "C" Class the field is likely to be very big and therefore much will depend on the start. Everything being equal, I think Wayward Stag has a good chance of repeating his success of September 22. His performance on that occasion leads me to think that he should be amongst the vanguard all the way. Valorous disappointed the last time out, but to-day the distance is shorter and he will be carrying seven pounds less and so his claims are strong. Lemberg

SOCIALISED IRON AND STEEL INDUSTRY

A scheme for the socialisation of the iron and steel industry is outlined in the report which the General Council have prepared for submission to the Trades Union Congress at Weymouth next month. There would probably be very little desire, the Council say, to have the socialised industry "conducted as a State Department on the lines of the Post Office." "The possibility of international difficulties," they go on to say, "must be considered in the case of an industry carrying on a highly competitive trade if such a form of organisation were adopted. At the same time, it would probably be thought unsuitable from the point of view of flexibility and freedom from the direct political influence. The scheme put forward by the Iron and Steel Trades Confederation itself proposes to bring the industry within the control of a public corporation, and, after full consideration, we believe this is the best form of organisation."

The best course from both technical and commercial points of view would probably be to create a board for each of the separate branches—products, tinplates, and so on—there being ten or a dozen in all, e.g., pig-iron, ingots and semi-products, tinplates, and so on—there being ten or a dozen in all, the precise demarcation being a technical matter which would be determined by those who are charged with the direction and conduct of the industry. Each of these sections should have a considerable degree of internal autonomy, but it would be necessary to have some machinery for co-ordinating them and for planning the industry as a whole.

Compensation

The compensation to be paid to existing interests on the socialisation of the industry must depend, in the opinion of the Council, on the general circumstances prevailing at the time of socialisation. "The basis of compensation might well be," they say, "the reasonable net maintainable revenue of the undertakings concerned, having regard also to whatever financial benefits have already been conferred on the industry by any other form of assistance, has materially improved the prospects of the industry, it would not be right that the public when taking over concerns should have to pay more on that account. The form to be taken by compensation is, in fact, not a matter of the first importance. It might take the form of redeemable stock, without, however, giving the ex-shareholders any right of foreclosure. It might take the form of redeemable Government bonds bearing fixed interest or the form of terminable annuities."

The Corporation would have a board of about 10, appointed by the President of the Board of Trade "on the ground of their competence to conduct the affairs of the industry." Each of the large divisions of the industry would have a sectional board appointed in the same way. Prices would be fixed in conjunction with a body representing the interests of consumers. "As far as foreign markets were concerned," the Council say, "prices would, of course, have to conform to those of competing nations. Whether the central body should be permitted to charge higher home prices in order to subsidise foreign markets is a matter of general policy which goes far beyond the iron and steel industry itself and is a matter needing careful consideration. The extent also to which the home market for iron and steel products would be protected is a matter for serious consideration in the case of a nationalised industry."

LECTURES FOR MANAGERS AND FOREMEN

Two courses, each of ten discussion classes, have been organised by the National Institute of Industrial Psychology, to be held at their offices in Aldwych House, Aldwych, London, W.C.2. The subject of the first course is "The Engagement, Training and Supervision of Workers," and the classes will be held at 6.15 p.m. on Tuesdays, starting on October 2, 1934. The second course is concerned with "Conditions and Methods of Work," and these classes also will be held at 6.15 p.m. on Tuesdays, starting on January 15, 1935. The courses are planned for departmental and labour managers, welfare superintendents, and foremen and forewomen. The fee is £4. for both courses, or £2. 5s. for either course. These fees are reduced for members of the Institute. A synopsis of the courses, and further particulars may be obtained from the secretary of the Institute.

WELSH WATER SCHEMES

Although there has been a substantial rainfall in South Wales in recent weeks, the effects of the drought are still very much in evidence. Reservoirs everywhere are low and many watercourses are still dry, although the danger of water famine, so far as the populous areas are concerned, seems to have been passed. Rural areas, however, are still suffering, especially in the high limestone districts, where it is said that rainfall does not reach the wells for several weeks. Mr. D. R. Grenfell, M.P., in the course of an address on the "National Water Supply" to the Workers' Educational Association, Holiday School at Langland, Swansea, declared that a national water grid should be established. He said that water supplies were so ample that only the smallest proportion was needed but efficient distribution was essential. One of the most serious features now was that 8,000 parishes in England and Wales depended on wells and springs which ran dry in periods of drought. Lt.-Col. H. F. Lea, C.M.G., D.S.O., at a meeting of the Hereford Rural Council, thought that the council should make a by-law making it compulsory for new houses to have provision for conserving rain water. He expressed the view that most rural water schemes were unnecessary if the people caught the rainfall from their roofs in galvanised tanks. This point was referred to the Housing Committee of the Council.

At Havertfordwest, the question of a new reservoir and new water pipes to supply Broadhaven was referred to the water committee. Denbighshire County Council have decided to appoint an engineer to survey the water resources of the county, and to report on the practicability of a comprehensive scheme of supply for the county as the alternative to many small schemes. The council also decided to contribute about £5,000 per annum towards the annual charges of the local authorities on water and sewerage schemes. At Welshpool, the Urban Council, who had appointed an engineer to report on the water supply from reservoirs on land owned by Lord Powis, were informed that his lordship considered the present supply ample and suggested that the reservoirs should be reduced in size to keep them outside the Safety Provisions Water Works Act. The Council replied and pointed out that the reserve fell very low last year and that new houses were being erected.

ENGINEERING & BUILDING

ENGINEERING ASPECTS

British Trade With Holland

The admirable series of reports published by the Department of Overseas Trade on commercial and financial conditions in other countries is sufficiently well-known to need no general introduction. As reports they are valuable for the great amount of authoritative information they contain in a small compass, but because they are reports, necessarily based mainly upon the official returns available to the compilers and subject to the time-lag inherent in all statistics, their utility must always be dependent upon the amount of first-hand knowledge and experience that the reader brings to their perusal.

To the established trader, this is no drawback, but the furthering of his interests forms only a part of the underlying purpose, which is to develop new trade as well as to maintain that already existing. The newcomer, and especially the small manufacturer whose business is just at that critical point to borrow a metaphor from hydraulics, where the sinuous flow of a purely home trade accelerates to the turbulence of export, may be led to wonder sometimes how close is the relation between a diplomatic officer's prels and the day-to-day commercial conditions to which the actual exporter must attune himself.

Two Reviews

In the case of Holland a fortunate coincidence offers at least a partial answer to this question, by the publication, almost together, of the latest "Report on Economic Conditions in the Netherlands," and of a small book in which Mr. John de La Valette sets forth the personal views on British Trade with Holland that a quarter of a century's participation in it has qualified him to formulate. The two reviews are not strictly comparable, because the official survey is restricted to the Netherlands and Mr. de La Valette's essay, as the sub-title indicates, devotes special attention to the potentialities of the Dutch East Indian market; but their community of purpose is absolute, and the references to engineering trade in particular are sufficiently numerous and direct to invite some consideration of the comments made under this head.

The post-war peak year for Dutch trade was 1920, but the world depression has since caused a reduction of more than 50 per cent., to a total for 1933 of 1,935 millions of florins. The fall in imports is less than that in exports, however, whether the comparison is made in weight or value, and in Mr. Lamming's report, it is suggested, as a deduction, that the present volume of imports represents the minimum needs of the country on the present standard of living. At the same time, the report infers that a lowering of the standard is not unlikely as a result of the efforts to balance the nation's books by widespread salary cuts, restriction of expenditure, and revision of national and local taxation.

The general economic survey with which the report opens is certainly a somewhat sombre chronicle—falling income, unemployment, rising cost of living, relief measures for shipping, agriculture, railways—and the writing of it seems to have depressed the compiler for the introduction ends on a note of despondency regarding any hope of early revival. Fortunately there are suggestions of a more cheerful outlook on later pages.

The Tinplate Market

The tinplate market, a note states bluntly, is most unsatisfactory. Although a larger quantity was imported, the U.K. share decreased, while the German nearly doubled. "The price difference was infinitesimal, but lack of pilancy on the part of the United Kingdom industry has made competitors' success more easy. France and Italy, it is remarked, are now entering the market. There is a touch of gloom in the

in this comment, for a price difference of 8 per cent., which the analysis discloses, is hardly "infinitesimal"; but the facts remain that the British price rose from an average of £1.14.80 per metric ton in 1932 to £1.18.45 in 1933, while the German average dropped from £1.14.10 to £1.13.13.

Mr. de La Valette likewise stresses the need for closer market study and greater readiness to encourage trade by such means as quoting prices in Dutch currency. His figures are for 1932, which, sometimes affects direct comparison with the D.O.T. report, as in his comments on the tinplate trade; but in general his arguments strongly support the official case, and considerably amplify its references to Japanese competition. In the Indies, Japanese dumping of such engineering products as galvanised sheet, enamel-ware, and bicycles has reached serious proportions.

Political and commercial reasons alike point the advantage of a healthy reciprocal trade between Britain and Holland, and he is on safe ground in urging that British exporters should consider the whole Netherlands Empire, and not merely the small country, only one-fourth the size of England, which fronts them across the North Sea, nor allow the present depressed state of trade with the Dutch East Indies to blind them to the future possibilities. Dutch industrialisation is still proceeding and requirements for plant and transport material will certainly revive. The same argument should apply even more forcibly to the Indies, with their sixty-odd millions of potential consumers and their natural resources still only partly developed.

The Netherlands Government has affirmed through Dr. Colijn, who is Colonial Minister as well as Prime Minister, the belief that reciprocal trade bargains afford the only way out of present difficulties. This amounts to a general invitation to other countries to negotiate such agreements. A summary of the laws and regulations bearing upon them is given by Mr. de La Valette, and those already made or in process of negotiation are also to be found in the official report.—"Engineering."

SPECIALISED TEACHING

For London Teachers

The handbook for the 1934-35 session of the lecture courses and classes, organised by the London County Council for the benefit of teachers in London and the home Counties, has recently been issued. The scheme, as heretofore, provides for courses in a wide variety of subjects, including science, mathematics, geography, foreign languages, economics, and various handicrafts. Most of the lectures are to be held on week-day evenings during the forthcoming winter and spring at various centres in London, and the starting times range from 5.30 p.m.

LONDON COURSES IN ENGINEERING

A small pamphlet entitled "Instruction in Engineering" has recently been published by the Education Officer's Department of the London County Council. This contains succinct particulars of the polytechnic and technical institutes, aided or maintained by the London County Council, at which instruction in engineering is given. Information regarding the day and evening classes available at each centre is given, as well as details concerning fees, ages of intending students, &c. Engagement for the forthcoming session, in the case of evening classes, will be on September 17.

Electric Soldering Irons

Although the engineering production methods of to-day involve the increasing use of labour-saving machinery, there will always be a need for reliable and efficient bench tools. Soldering, for instance, is a process which can only be rendered mechanical to a limited extent, though it can be speeded up and improved by the employment of electrically-heated irons. Messrs. W. T. Henley's Telegraph Works Company, Limited, Holborn Viaduct, London, E.C.1, have, therefore, designed a new heavy-weight iron for factory, workshop and garage use, which complies with the Home Office regulations, is mechanically and electrically robust, heats up quickly, maintains the correct temperature for continuous use, and is well balanced.

Three Ratings

This iron, which is made in the three ratings 85, 125 and 240 watts, respectively, differs in some respects from the firm's well-known domestic model. The copper bit, which is tinned ready for use, and the end of the iron into which it fits, are of oval section and there are no protruding screws which might prevent its use in a confined space. The element, which is of high-grade nickel-chrome wire wound on mica, is enclosed in a steel casing, which is clamped between the limbs of the bit. This casing is itself contained in a cadmium-plated cover. From this element nickel-chrome leads covered with bead insulation run through the stem and hardwood handle, to a Bakelite box, where connection is made between them and flexible leads insulated with tough rubber. A bonding strip, to which the centre core of the flexible lead is connected, is also provided in the connection box and earths all the metal parts of the iron. In order to prevent any strain being put on the connection inside the box, and to provide a better grip on the outer sheath of the flexible conductor, a moulded rubber sleeve is placed at the entrance to the box. This sleeve also reinforces the leads at this point and thus does away with sharp bends and the risk of conductor breakage. The ends of the leads are trimmed up ready for connection to a three-pin plug.

Correct Resistance

To ensure that the elements are of the correct resistance, they are individually tested on a special test-panel, which enables the proper voltage to be applied. Rejection takes place if the resistance varies from normal by more than  $\pm 5$  per cent. After assembly each iron is subjected to heating and dielectric-resistance tests, while in addition a voltage 1.18 times the rated value is applied to one iron from each batch, before the dielectric test is made. Five irons undergo the heating test simultaneously, an alarm clock being set to cut off the current at the required time. Any iron which then fails to melt a piece of solder is rejected. During the dielectric tests the cases of the irons are earthed and the leads are connected to a 0.75 kV transformer supplying current at 600 R.M.S. volts, and to a test lamp, which lights up should a failure occur. Finally, duration test, during which a number of irons are connected continuously to the supply mains, is made on a representative selection from stock. The life under these conditions is said to average from 6,000 hours to 8,000 hours.

The external dimensions of the bit on the 125-watt iron are  $1\frac{1}{2}$  in. long by  $1\frac{1}{2}$  in. major axis and  $\frac{3}{4}$  in. minor axis, the overall length, excluding the rubber sleeve, being  $1\frac{1}{2}$  in. and the weight 1 lb. It has been successfully used for light tin-smith's work and for soldering commutator leads on motors up to about 2 h.p. The bit of the 240-watt iron is  $2\frac{1}{2}$  in. long by  $1\frac{1}{2}$  in. major axis and  $\frac{3}{4}$  in. minor axis. The weight is 2 lb., and it can be used for heavy tin-smith's work and for all heavier soft soldering.

NOTES FROM SCOTLAND

By The Air Mail

From Our Own Correspondent

Edinburgh, Sept. 15.
The beaters of Scotland's greetings to Victoria at the centenary celebrations in Melbourne sailed from Tilbury this evening on the Moldavia. The Scottish contingent, drawn mainly from Glasgow, Edinburgh, and the Borders, are traveling at the invitation of ex-patriate sons and daughters of Caledonia now resident in Australia, whose guests they will be while in the Antipodes. The delegation have had the blessings of three Premiers—Mr. Ramsay MacDonald, Mr. J. A. Lyons, and Sir Stanley S. Argyle—who have given expression in cable messages to the welcome which awaits the party and to the high regard that the Dominion Government entertains for the colonising ability of the Scot. During a halt at Malta the tourists are to be accorded a Government reception.

THE WINGED POLICEMAN

There is a strong note of efficiency and progress in the news that the Glasgow police are to make extensive use of wireless and that a fully qualified inspector-pilot may shortly hover over us in an autogiro. The use of an autogiro for the control of crowds in London has shown the possibilities of a new ally of the public peace, and while Glasgow is second to London in size it need not be second in anything else. In the meantime, perhaps, the wireless system has the greater significance, for anyone can think of uses to which it may be put. When the criminal has his motor car the police are bound to exploit an instrument which can outpace it.

COASTAL SHIPPING

The growth of the coastal shipping trade referred to by Professor Halliwell at the British Association yesterday has proved of benefit to Scottish shipbuilding. In the last two years Coast Lines have had built in Scotland the Atlantic Coast and the British Coast, which are the two largest and fastest motorships in the coastal trade. And the growth of this form of transport is further shown by the fact that an order for a third and still larger coaster was placed the other day with a Clyde firm.

"NATIONAL DECLARATION" ## ON DISARMAMENT

The Scottish National Council of the League of Nations Union was well advised, in the resolution it passed after considering the proposed "National Declaration" in favour of the League of Nations and Disarmament, to call attention to the practical difficulties involved in carrying out the plan. Quite apart from objection which may be taken to the form in which some of the questions composing the Declaration are cast it is seriously open to doubt whether Lord Cecil and those who acted with him in drawing it up were fully conscious of the immense work entailed in taking what is practically equivalent to a referendum of the whole population—for the ascertainment of the attitude of only a few towns or districts would be of little importance.

PRACTICAL DIFFICULTIES

It is inconceivable that a canvass of the population of a city like Glasgow could be carried out by voluntary sparetime labour. Yet what alternative to voluntary work

THE ARMY

Early Promotion To Major-General

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Sept. 20.
A case of early promotion to major-general is announced today. It is due to brevet advancement in the War and distinguished service since. Colonel James R. Marshall-Cornwall, C.B.E., D.S.O., M.C., is the officer, and his age is 47. He is a senior on the list, but the Stanhope Committee recommendations also facilitate his selection.
He joined the 51st Field Battery in 1907, after being at Fugby and Woolwich. He was wounded in France, where his staff appointments were as an intelligence officer and G.S.O.2 and 3. Special service in Turkey followed, duty with the Black Sea Army, British delegate on the Thracian Boundary Commission, and membership of the British Delegation to the Peace Conference. Five times mentioned, he received decorations from France, Belgium, the United States, and Great Britain. He passed the Staff College in 1919 and has been G.S.O.1 at the War Office, artillery brigade major with the Shanghai Defence Force, Military Attaché in Berlin, and C.R.A. 51st (Highland) Division, T.A. since 1932.

SIR W. LESLIE IN CAR
COLLISION

Indian Adjutant-General

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Sept. 15.
Sir Walter and Lady Leslie and a friend, Mrs. Margaret Bird, of Kingsdown, Kent, were injured in a road accident in Maidstone-road North Cray, Kent, last night. The car in which they were travelling came into collision with a motor lorry and all three were flung from their seats.

They were taken to hospital, where they were found to be suffering from fractured ribs. Sir Walter also had an injury to his shoulder. They were stated later to be "comfortable."
Lt.-Gen. Sir Walter Leslie came home on leave recently, and has been staying at Walmer. He has been Adjutant-General in India since 1932, and is a former A.D.C. to the King. He is 58, and married in 1911 Lora Mary, daughter of the late Mr. James Corballis, of Rathoath Manor, Co. Meath.

It is open to an organisation like the League of Nations Union which is only in possession of funds sufficient for its ordinary propaganda activities? Desirable as it is to leave no doubt in anyone's mind of the country's continuing belief in the principles for which the League of Nations stands, the members of the Union are likely to find an intensification of the educational campaign in which they have in the past been engaged more profitable than the attempt to organise a "National Declaration" which they have not the resources to make a success.

£30,000 OFFER TO
MAX BAER

Protest In Berlin

(Special Air-Mail Service)

London, Sept. 20.
In view of Germany's lack of foreign exchange, an offer to Max Baer, the heavy-weight boxing champion of the world, of a guaranteed £30,000 for a title fight at Hamburg with Max Schmeling, the German champion, is criticised to-night.
It is suggested that such a large sum could be better employed than in filling the pockets of an American boxer. Owing to Max Baer's Jewish parentage it is unlikely that the fight would in any case be allowed to take place.

The Wonderful
Breathe-able Tablets

Doctors &
Physicians
Throughout
The World
Recommend PEPS.

SPECIALLY compounded to deal with the throat, chest and lung dangers of our climate, Peps are a unique and most valuable medicine.

When dissolved in the mouth, Peps tablets give off powerful medicinal fumes, which are breathed direct into the lungs. Peps have an immediate soothing and healing action on the delicate linings of the throat and air-passages.

Peps cut choking phlegm and clear the bronchia. They relieve the chest and stop the most troublesome cough. Take Peps every day. They will protect you against sudden colds, night chills, sore throat, bronchitis and other chest and lung dangers.

EVERY PEPS TABLET IS SILVER-WRAPPED.

PEPS are sold in handy metal bottles of chemists and medicine dealers every where. enclosed in every package.

way from Basra to Melbourne to take part in the State of Victoria centenary celebrations, are due today at Singapore. Here they are to remain until Thursday before go-

The meeting between No. 203

may be the last before No. 205 receives the first of its new aircraft.
It is being re-equipped with Short of the Southampton type, which has done duty ever since the Squadron was based on Singapore early in 1928. The greater range of the new Singapore III would make possible a flight across the Indian Ocean from Singapore to Colombo with one halt at the Nicobar Islands (which have already been surveyed by the present squadron) for fuel. It is expected that an attempt on this flight, the first of its kind, may be made early next year.

"LIFE IN THE RAW"

George O'Brien's Return

George O'Brien comes back to the screen after a six-month tour of Europe, in "Life in the Raw," the new romance coming to the Alhambra Theatre to-morrow.

It is a Zane Grey story that once again unites the foremost writer and the premier player of Western film stories.

"Life in the Raw" is reported as a combination of the outstanding elements in popular adventure romance. It depicts the arrival of an inexperienced Eastern girl into the midst of frontier hazards and intrigues. And it reveals the true emotions of a group of people who, impressed by the wide-openness of western territory, feel that they need no longer hide their true feelings.

Claire Trevor a newcomer to the screen is the new leading lady introduced by O'Brien in this picture. Miss Trevor comes from the New York stage, where she was last seen in the leading role of "The Party's Over."

Others in a notable cast, in support of O'Brien and Miss Trevor are Greta Nissen, Francis Ford, and Warner Richmond.

Louis King directed the production and Sammy Lee is responsible for the dance ensembles in the picture.

"FORBIDDEN"

A Dramatic Story

With Barbara Stanwyck and Adolphe Menjou in the leading roles, "Forbidden," now showing at the Alhambra, is a dramatic story of a woman who devotes her entire lifetime to further the ambitions of her lover.

A drab little librarian, one bright spring morning she decides to take her savings of years and invest it in a grand adventure. She buys gorgeous clothes and sets sail for Havana. On the boat she meets Bob Grover a lawyer. They fall madly in love, but know each other only by the numbers of their staterooms.

Back in New York comes the disillusionment for the girl, for she finds he is married and a divorce would be a childish thing to do, for his wife is crippled and loves him devotedly. Though torn between two desires, however, the girl continues to play a big part in his career which finally leads to a governorship.

Barbara Stanwyck gave a perfect characterization of the broken-hearted girl, and was ably supported by Adolphe Menjou as the lawyer and Ralph Bellamy as the rival.

Directed by Frank Capra, who gave us such successes as "It Happened One Night" and "A Lady for a Day," "Forbidden" is a picture well-worth seeing.

WHERE SINNERS MEET

A Capital Picture

Diana Wynyard and Olive Brook, who scored their greatest success in "Cavalcade," are again co-starred in "Where Sinners Meet," Sunday's attraction at the King's Theatre, with Billie Burke in a featured role.

It is a spicy and extremely subtle comedy that borders upon farce, and is interspersed with bits of genuine drama. It is said to afford the two stars an even wider scope for their talents than was given them in the historical epic.

The cast of "Where Sinners Meet" is comprised of seven former English stage favourites. In addition to the two stars and Billie Burke, there are Reginald Owen, and Walter Moberly, Phyllis Barry and Walter Armitage. J. Walter Ruben directed.

THE KING

Hand In Hand With Princess

(Special Air Mail Service)

Ballater, Sept. 20.
The King and Queen to-day welcomed their future daughter-in-law.

The scene at Balmoral was one in which Highland pomp and simple family affection were most happily combined.

As the car in which Prince George and his betrothed entered the gates of the Castle and drove up to the doorway the Princess had an unexpected treat—the sight of a detachment of the Royal Highlanders drawn up on the lawn to greet her.

The King in Highland costume and the Queen in a cream-coloured dress stood together in the doorway. On one side was a group of Castle servants.

Princess Marina and her parents, Prince and Princess Nicholas of Greece, alighted from the car and were greeted by the King and Queen.

The Royal group withdrew for a few moments inside the porch. When they emerged again it was seen that the King was leading Princess Marina by the hand.

He indicated the Royal Highlanders, who are recruited from among the ghillies and keepers of the Royal estate. They were wearing their full dress, with the Scottish thistle and oak leaf in their bonnets. Major Mackenzie, the King's Commissioner, who was in command, was presented to the Princess.

FIFERS' HOMAGE

Princess Marina was seen to be talking animatedly and pointing towards the Highlanders. The King's Piper, Pipe Major Forsyth, stepped forward with his pipers, and forming a ring around the King and the Princess, started to play "Eileen Laddie." For a moment or two she seemed a little bewildered—it was her first close view of the Highland bagpiper—but soon she was clapping her hands in delight and making laughing comments to the King.

At the close, Major Mackenzie turned to his men and called for

British Musical Comedy

"On the Air," the British Lion Radio musical comedy opening to-morrow at the Queen's is a production that no listener-in should miss. Nearly every well-known radio star is featured in this elaborate film including Roy Fox and his famous broadcasting band which has delighted many millions during the past few years.

Max Wall, the eccentric dancer and the talented Buddy Bradley's Rhythm Girls are also featured in "On the Air" which is said to be the brightest, merriest film made in many years.

We advise every picturegoer and listener-in not to miss this radio revue.

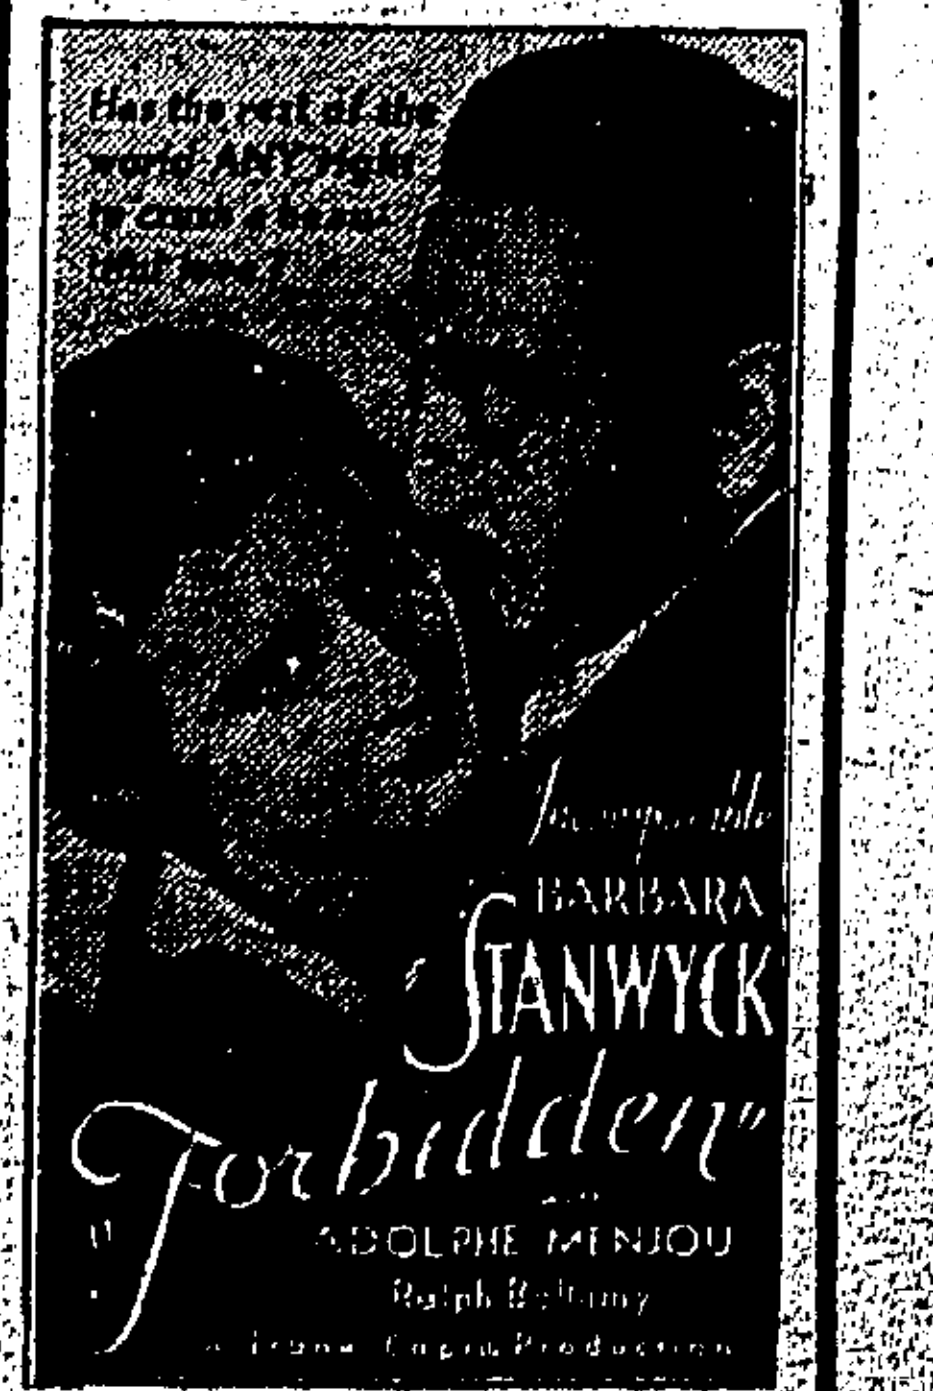

three cheers for the Princess. These were heartily given by them and by the assembled servants. The Princess bowed and smiled delightedly at the warmth of her reception, and the King, again taking her by the hand, led her into the castle.

In the afternoon the Prince went out for a drive with his fiancée. Prince George himself took the wheel, and for an hour and a half drove along roads which had been soaked by a downpour of torrential rain.

It is emphasised that the visit of the Princess to the castle is a purely private one. The strictest precautions are being taken to ensure that the seclusion of the Royal party shall be in no sense invaded, and a special force of police and detectives is on duty around the castle.

JOHN WESLEY'S

HOME

House Restored To Georgian Style

(Special Air Mail Special)

London, Sept. 20.
From Thursday this week the public will be given extended facilities to inspect John Wesley's house in City Road and to see the place, more nearly than has previously been possible, as it was when the founder of Methodism made it his home.

The house, a four-storeyed Georgian building in brick adjoining Wesley's Chapel, was built in 1779, and Wesley lived there until his death in 1791. Since then many eminent Wesleyan ministers have occupied the house, among them being Jabez Bunting, Adain Clarke, and George T. Perks, the present Postmaster-General. Sir Kingsley Wood, and Lord Wolverhampton (Sir Henry Fowler) spent some of the years of their youth within its walls. About 30 years ago the house was made into a museum, with resident supernumerary ministers as curators, but only three rooms were open to the public, and these were too crowded. During recent months, under the inspiration of Mr. Frank Salisbury and Mr. Edmund S. Lamplough, and the architectural direction of Sir George Oakey, of Bristol, and Mr. Vyvian Salisbury, the interior of the house has been restored to its Georgian character, and nine rooms instead of three have been adapted to the purposes of the museum.

A Transformation
Fine yellow pine panelling, which in the passage of generations had been covered with from 10 to 15 layers of dark paint, has been skilfully stripped; eighteenth-century fireplaces, which had been blocked up, have been discovered and opened; ugly modern fireplaces in other rooms have been displaced by Adam models; a lighting scheme has been introduced which reveals the true proportion of the rooms; new oak floors have been put down; and a small strong room has been constructed for historical treasure of Methodism which are in the possession of the trustees. So far as this was possible the endeavour has been to restore the conditions of 150 years ago. The work, for which Messrs. Favers and Son have been the contractors, has been well done, and it is estimated that the transformation has prolonged the life of the house by 200 years.

Among the articles which will be on view in the museum are Wesley's grandfather clock, which still keeps perfect time; his bureau, which has a number of ingenious secret drawers; his conference chair; a Queen Anne kneelable in the great preacher's small prayer room; his electricity machine; and a large collection of personal relics, books, and furniture.

Gifts Of Portraits

Mr. Frank Salisbury has presented to the trustees his striking new portrait of John Wesley which was on view at this year's Royal Academy, and Mr. Lamplough has given them the Hunter portrait of John Wesley and a well-known oil painting of Samuel Sebastian Wesley, the grandson of Charles Wesley. The pictures will be hung in the public rooms of the house. One of the things which restoration revealed, and which visitors should look for, is a fine east lead fanlight over the front door.

Mrs. Frank Salisbury will reopen the house on Thursday afternoon, and there will be a meeting in Wesley's Chapel at which Mr. E. S. Lamplough will preside. Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, of Brooklyn, New York, will unveil Mr. Salisbury's picture and speak on John Wesley and other speakers will include Dr. Scott Lidgett, Dr. Campbell Morgan, General Higgins, of the Salvation Army, and Sir Kingsley Wood, M.P. After tea, a welcome will be given to the Rev. E. G. Champman and the Rev. Joseph Heaven, two new ministers who will live in Wesley's House and help in the work of the chapel and its two missions.

"MR. SKITCH"Rogers At His Best
A Dramatic Story

The one and only inimitable Will Rogers is to be seen on the screen of The Queen's Theatre to-day in conjunction with the world-famous acrobats and comedians, The Palm Trio, in Fox Film's latest comedy release "Mr. Skitch." The screen play is based upon Anne Cameron's Saturday Evening Post story, "Green Dice." The Post story was read and approved by the millions of its readers a number of years back, and advance reports on the film indicate that it will be equally attractive.

In support of Rogers, the cast is headed by ZaSu Pitts, Rochelle Hudson and Charles Starrett play the romantic leads, and are aided by three star funsters, Florence Desmond, Harry Green, and Eugene Pallette. James Cruze directed.

acts the role with convincing sincerity.

Menjou, as Raft's elder brother and the most determined opponent to the latter's efforts to become a matador, portrays the swaggering and daring caballero in typical Menjou style.

Frances Drake appears as a vivacious and fascinating dancer from Mexico City whose charms enamour both of the brothers, making them rivals in love as well as combatants over the issue of Raft's ambition.

The story depending upon such characters for its major appeal, turns out to be a colourful and dramatic piece of entertainment, enhanced by a series of action scenes which are thrilling in the extreme.

AMERICAN SEAMAN TO BE EXPELLED

On a charge of arriving in the Colony without a valid passport, William Dadds, a young American seaman, was ordered to be expelled
by Mr. W.M. Thomson at Central Magistracy yesterday.

It was stated that defendant was a member of the crew of the States Steamship vessel, General
Sherman which left for Shanghai on September 15. Defendant missed his ship, and the Company
wanted to hold him as a deserter, but this was over-ruled by the American Consul who directed that another ship be found for the man.

The defendant was offered the San Pedro, but he declined, and the matter was then taken up by the Police who asked for an expulsion order so that he might be sent away by the General Lee.

TRAFFIC OFFENCES

A number of traffic offenders were dealt with by Mr. Hamilton at Central Magistracy yesterday.

Lieut. Wood, R.N., was cautioned
for driving his car in Ice House Street on August 25. Mr. T.B.K.
Kemble, who appeared for the defence, explained that the defendant had only arrived in April and had been at Weihaiwei. He had only been driving for a few days when the offence was committed.

"A man does not take his ship
into strange waters without having a good look at the chart
first", smilingly remarked his Worship.

For not having full control over his car in Shek-O Road, Hon Kwok
Leung, driver of public car No.
1439 was fined $5.

A fine of $3 was imposed on Chan Hung Yau, driver of Lorry
No. 1387 who was summoned for carrying three passengers in excess of the number allowed.

Kowloon Cases

At Kowloon Magistracy, before Mr. Wynne-Jones, E. Lynn was fined $10 and ordered to pay a similar sum as compensation on a charge of driving private car No.
3858 without due care and caution.

It was stated that on September 9, at 11.30 p.m., Miss Brown was walking across Nathan Road when she was knocked down by car 2585, which was driven by defendant. She received minor injuries to the back and head,

and was kept in hospital for three days.

HEAVY FINE FOR EUROPEAN

Remarking that he seriously considered at one time sending him to prison but that he was influenced in not doing so by the cancellation of his licence, Mr.
Hamilton at Central Magistracy yesterday fined T. Cranston $250 on a charge of driving a car while under the influence of liquor on Wanchai Road on September 17.

Defendant was cautioned on a minor charge of driving without due care and caution.

It will be recalled that Police Constable Fitzpatrick was knocked down, receiving injuries which necessitated him remaining in the hospital for several days.

In giving his decision, His Worship remarked that he had considered the matter very carefully. It was obvious, he said, that it was no worse to knock a policeman down than to knock down anyone else; at the same time, it was not any better. In this case he had knocked down a man and afterwards crashed into the pavement.

JAPANESE ON SERIOUS CHARGE

The case against a Japanese named Ikuzo Nomura who is being charged with firing a shot
from a shot-gun into No. 87 Jaffe Road on the morning of September 12 and with being in possession of the shot-gun without a licence was continued before Mr.
at Central Magistracy yesterday,
when further evidence was taken.

Mr. T. Murphy, assistant Director of Criminal Investigation appeared for the prosecution, and Mr. Leo D'Almada, Castro, Jr., instructed by Mr. M. A. da Silva, was for the defence.

Miss Tomoyo Matsushita, 21,
the sister-in-law of the accused said that she had lived with the accused and his wife for the past eight years. The accused kept a licensed eating house and a curio store at No. 41 Peking Road, Kowloon. He engaged a Japanese assistant named Fujimoto who worked there for 25 months, and who left on July 1 this year. She knew Fujimoto had taken legal proceedings against the accused for $800 wages. She intended to marry Fujimoto at one time, but nobody knew of it, not even her sister.

Witness then referred to the shooting incident, after which the case was adjourned.

RESOLUTION ON INDIA

London, Oct. 4.

The subject of India was raised at the Conservative Conference by Sir Henry Ragsdale, with a resolution urging that, while a gradual grant of a greater measure of self-government within the Provinces should be supported, the partnership of Britain and India in the Central Government of the Indian Empire must not be dissolved.

The motion was defeated in favour of an amendment which recorded that the Conference had last year decided that it would not reach a final conclusion on the subject until the Joint Select Committee had reported.

NEW COCKTAIL BAR

"Peninsula" Season
To Open

A foretaste of the social activities for the approaching Winter Season will be provided at the Special Dinner Dance to take place in the attractive Roof Garden of the Peninsula Hotel on Tuesday the 9th October, when the charming American versatile dancing sisters Marya and Marta will provide entertainment from their extensive repertoire of clever and fascinatingly amusing numbers during the evening.

The importance of the event will be enhanced by the opening of the new Roof Garden Cocktail Bar. This particular Bar, with the latest ideas in its type of construction, is very conveniently
situated adjoining the Grill Room, and the charming simplicity cheerful colouring and modern furniture will undoubtedly make it a most popular spot during the ensuing social season. Commencing with the 9th October function dinner dances are to be a regular weekly feature every Tuesday at the Peninsula Hotel.

Rose Room Re-opening

The re-opening of the Rose Room, an outstanding event in the social life of the Colony, is to be marked by the celebration of a Gala Night on Saturday the 10th November next, on which occasion the Management will arrange entertainment both novel and diverting.

NAZI REVOLT REPORT

A Voluminous
Publication

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).]

Vienna, Oct. 4.
A voluminous report of a hundred and twenty pages on the events culminating in the uprising on July 25 containing many official documents and profusely illustrated, was published here by the Federal Chancellery.

The report which was edited by the Federal Commissary for "En-propaganda, Colonel Adam, is divided into three parts of which the first deals with the rise of the National-Socialist movement in Austria.
The second part concerns itself with alleged foreign aid for the Austrian National-Socialists, while the third depicts the events of July 25.

Colonel Adam in his preface characterises the purpose of the publication as follows:—"This brochure does not intend to revive memories of past disputes and tragic events but just for our sake. The publication is decided upon on the supposition that clarity is the best means of promoting mutual understanding." The foreword, moreover, admits that the documentary evidence was too fragmentary to permit complete conclusive presentation of the facts.

GERMAN COMMENT

[Special to the "Hong Kong Daily
Press" (Copyright).]

Berlin, Oct. 4.
Commenting on the Government's report on the revolt of July 25 issued on Thursday, the semi-official "Diplomatische Korrespondenz" says "the publication can be characterised as a collection of material directed against Germany. Although not officially bearing the title, "Brown Book," it is similar to that published in London
a year ago, the only difference being that in this case not individuals but the Austrian Government is assuming full responsibility for the publication.

It is very remarkable that this
"Brown Book" appears at the moment when the new German Minister extraordinary to Vienna is setting to work on his mission of peace clearly defined and entrusted to him by Hitler. In any case it is very regrettable that the Austrian Government, although well aware of various foreign interests which are struggling for supremacy on Austrian soil, has despite the often asserted common interests of the German people,
taken an antagonistic attitude
against Germany alone.

AN AUDACIOUS
IMPOSTORJewellery Swindle
Attempt

Messrs. Sennet Freres, the well-known jewellers, had a rather unusual experience on Thursday when at about 3.40 p.m. a young Chinese, dressed in European style clothing went to the shop in a Hong Kong Hotel hired car and asked to see some diamond rings. Two or three rings were produced on a tray and after examining them, the man said he had seen some at Ullmann's and would like to see some at the China Emporium. He then left the shop but returned about 15 minutes later and said that he would buy one ring which was marked at $3,200. After some bargaining the purchase price was agreed at $2,800 and the man then asked one of the salesmen to go with him with the ring to Messrs. Leo d'Almada & Co., David House, where he said he was employed, as an interpreter and that cash would be paid for it.

On arriving at the office, the man took off his hat and coat and hung them up, and from this action led the salesman to believe that he was employed there. The man then telephoned to somebody and asked him to be over in five minutes, at the same time explaining to the salesman that it was his cousin who was buying the ring and that he had asked him to bring the money over. While waiting, the man spoke to one of the foks in Chinese and asked the salesman to show the ring. After a few minutes the man telephoned again after which he explained to the salesman that his cousin did not have enough money in his shop but that he would come over to Messrs. Sennet Freres at 10.30 a.m. the following day (yesterday). He was asked by the salesman for his name which he gave as K. C. Chan, and the salesman then left the office, taking the ring with him.

No Such Person

On the following day the man did not turn up at Messrs. Sennet Freres, at the appointed time, and after waiting till 11 a.m., the salesman telephoned to Messrs. D'Almada's office, asking to speak to him, and was told that there was no such person. The salesman then went to Messrs. D'Almada's office where he asked the Chinese foks whom he saw speaking with Chan the previous day, and was told that he did not know the man. The salesman then made enquiries from which he learned that Chan had been to the office once or twice regarding legal representation but nothing had been done as he would not pay in advance as requested, and that his name was not Chan but Fung. He also learned that the man was thought to be at one time employed somewhere in David House.

The salesman was also informed that the man had also told some people in Messrs. D'Almada's office that he wanted to sell a ring, and that he had written a cheque on the Hong Kong and Shanghai Bank, folded it up and put it back in his pocket.

When he visited Messrs. Sennet Freres he was alleged to have produced a piece of paper purporting to be the weights and prices of rings he had seen at Ullmann's.

The police are at present looking for this K. C. Chan and his description has been circulated as follows:

Height: 5-ft. 4-ins. Thin build. Dressed in Saigon linen (white or cream), European style, dark grey felt hat and speaks Panti dialect.

COMPOSER DEAD

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Berlin, Oct. 4.

The famous French violinist-composer, Henri Marteau, who for many years was also the leading figure in Germany's musical world, died of pleurisy on his estate in Bavaria at the age of sixty years.

Marteau was born in Reims and in 1908 was appointed Professor of the Berlin Academy of Music, succeeding to the post long held by the great violinist, Joachim. During and after the War he lived in Sweden and Czechoslovakia, but in 1928 he accepted the appointment as teacher in the Leipzig Conservatory. Subsequently he held similar appointments in Dresden and Prague.

Marteau was one of the foremost interpreters of Bach and Beethoven and his concert tours took him to most countries in Europe and America.

MOTOR FATALITY
RECALLEDInquiry Into Woman's Death

A verdict of death by misadventure with no blame attached to the driver, was yesterday returned by Mr. Wynne-Jones sitting as Coroner at the Kowloon Magistracy, when an inquiry was held into the circumstances surrounding the death of a Chinese woman, Leung Mui, aged 38, who was fatally injured as a result of being knocked down by a motor-car driven by Mr. V. H. Freeman, on the evening of September 19 in Cheung Sha Wan Road.

The jury consisted of Messrs. R. J. Shrigley (Foreman), L. D. Fernandes and H. A. de Figueiredo. Dr. Court gave medical evidence after which Inspector Shaftain of the Shamshuipo Police Station gave evidence of going to the scene and removing the woman to Hospital. He said that prior to receiving the telephone message calling him to the scene of the accident it had been raining heavily for about 15 minutes.

Lee Yim, a Chinese girl of 17 and one of the three persons knocked down stated that at about 5.5 p.m. on September 19, accompanied by the deceased and the third person, a Chinese boy, they left the factory at which they worked on the Castle Peak Road and proceeded home.

They were crossing the Cheung Sha Wan Road near the scene of the accident when she saw a motor-car coming from Lai-chukok. Before she knew what had happened they had been hit and were all lying down, the deceased being under the car while the boy was lying to the rear of the vehicle.

Under The Car

Witness next remembered being lifted from under the front of the car and being conveyed to hospital with the Chinese boy.

Serjt. T. Scrimm of the Water Police gave evidence on the car's brakes which he said were in fairly good order. The footbrakes when applied at 20 miles an hour pulled the car up within 21 feet while the hand brake pulled the car up in 56 feet.

Serjt. Scrimm said that under the circumstances prevailing on the day in question he would not have used the handbrakes under any conditions.

Valentine Herbert Freeman said he was an Assistant Hospital Supervisor attached to the Prison Department and on the day in question was driving a Morris Saloon model loaned him by Messrs. Dodwell and Company while his car was under repair.

He was driving the car towards Kowloon from Lai-chukok and when about half way through Cheung Sha Wan Village saw a lorry approaching about 20 yards away. It was raining heavily at the time and witness suddenly became aware of an object 3 or 4 feet away on his immediate right. He immediately swerved to the left and applied his foot-brakes but at that instant felt an impact. Immediately a crowd of Chinese came to the head of his car and made him reverse. He did so and then got out of the car when he saw the deceased lying underneath with her right leg caught by the car's shaft.

Witness immediately phoned the Shamshuipo Police Station and then went back to the deceased who was removed from under the car with the aid of a jack.

The jury retired for a short while and returned a verdict of death by misadventure.

HIGH OFFICIALS
ARRESTED

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, October 5, 4.30 p.m.)

Reval, October 5.

By order of the public prosecutor of the Ukraine Republic—the despatch from Moscow has it—the branch officer of the party at Gaskoff, the Chief of Police, as well as nine judges and clerks have been arrested on charges of theft, sabotage, counter-revolution and plundering of foodstuffs. Two judges have been arrested on a charge of having ransacked completely the Court's cash box and committing forgery of documents. Another clerk who took "squeeze" from prisoners and let them escape in return, has disappeared.

CHINESE HOLIDAYS

Once again the Chinese community has shown that the old lunar calendar is as popular as ever, for recently we have had the moon festival, and yesterday, the Birthday of Confucius was celebrated according to the old calendar, when school children and a few local societies observed the day as a holiday. The traditions attached to dates on the lunar calendar appear to be most difficult to shake off, notwithstanding all the efforts of the Chinese authorities to make a change over to the Gregorian calendar. It will be recalled that in the early years of the Republic, the "Double Tenth" was not celebrated with the same fervour as it is to-day, for in those days the significance of the date was barely understood and the introduction of a new holiday into the calendar was not very warmly received. How different things are to-day!

DAYS FOR HIKING

The threatened typhoon did not strike the Colony and we are now in the midst of really glorious weather. Those of us who have lived in Hong Kong for some years do not realise the marvellous weather which we enjoy in the Colony in late Autumn and during the winter months. It can be safely said that the danger of a severe typhoon striking the Colony is almost past, for typhoons in late October are rare occurrences here. Incidentally this is the best time of the year to go hiking, for although the day is still somewhat hot, the hours of daylight are quite long and gives one more daylight in the late afternoon and evening than during the winter, when darkness comes with sundown.

A RACING EXPERIMENT

This afternoon, an experiment is to be tried in local racing. The $5 pari-mutuel which has been in existence for so many years will be suspended for the time being and a $2 "pari" will be substituted. This step has been introduced with a view to increasing the turnover at the betting counters at Happy Valley. As most people are aware, the cash sweep tickets were recently altered from $5 to $1 and proved an immediate success, and if the turnover to-day on the $2 betting tickets justifies the change, the $5 tickets will be a thing of the past altogether. It is difficult to predict what kind of a reception will be given the new tickets but the indications are that they will prove popular.

CHINESE ART

Exhibition At Berne

Berne, Aug. 28.

For the first time in the history of Switzerland, an Exhibition of Chinese Paintings, comprising a fine collection of 280 masterpieces by modern artists in Old Cathay, is being held here, in the gorgeous Art Building Kunsthalle, attracting hundreds of visitors daily.

The Exhibition was officially opened to the public on August 25 with a simple but impressive ceremony in the presence of many distinguished guests, among whom were the President of the Confederation of Switzerland and members of the Bundesrat.

In his speech delivered at the opening ceremony Saturday afternoon the Swiss President lauded the paintings as being masterpieces not only in the Orient but also in the world, further observing that these paintings would in time to come enjoy a high prestige in the world of art comparable to that as enjoyed by those of Florence and Venice.

Genuine Admiration

The entire twelve rooms in which the pictures are artistically displayed were packed to capacity on the opening day. Each visitor to the exhibition is provided with a beautifully printed booklet, which, besides explanatory notes to the paintings, contains a lengthy preface by Mr. Liu Hai-shu, renowned

WANCHAI PLAYGROUND

It is surprising what a grip football has taken among the Chinese in the Colony. Every evening hundreds attend to watch football games staged on the Children's Playground in Wanchai. The players are by no means children and, fair weather or foul, there is always a match in progress in the evening. The Wanchai playground promises to become a beauty spot in this area, as already the young saplings planted around the edge of this ground are beginning to grow into trees. The swigs and see-saws are immensely popular and those who support the Children's Playground Association cannot but be gratified at the manner in which the huge plot of ground in Wanchai is providing recreation for many children who would otherwise have to go without any games.

BRIGHTER HONG KONG

Is it not peculiar that in Hong Kong the busiest part of the city by day is almost deserted by night? Except for the locality near the theatres and the hotels, there is nothing to make the city bright and attractive. Some shops do keep their show windows well illuminated at night, and it would not be a bad scheme if all shops in the city were to display their goods in their windows even after they have closed up for the day. In this connection it is safe to say that the shops in Des Voeux Road and Queen's Road Central to the west of Central Market present a far brighter appearance by night than those in the more central locality. Shop-keepers in the Central district can all contribute their bit towards a brighter Hong Kong by lighting up their show windows at night.

MORE ABOUT LIGHTS

Talking about lights reminds me that at the moment an interesting experiment is being carried out along Hennessy Road in the matter of street lighting. Some little time ago, a new form of street lamps giving a bluish light was introduced along the road. More recently additional new lights have been put on between Bowring Canal and the Lee Gardens, giving an even more bluish tint. These new lights are admittedly bright, but to my mind their very brightness is against them, for the glare from these lamps are considerable. If the lights could be shaded a bit from the view of those using the road, they will prove a definite improvement on the old form of lighting.

FINANCIAL QUESTIONS
IN THE SAAR

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, October 5, 4.30 p.m.)

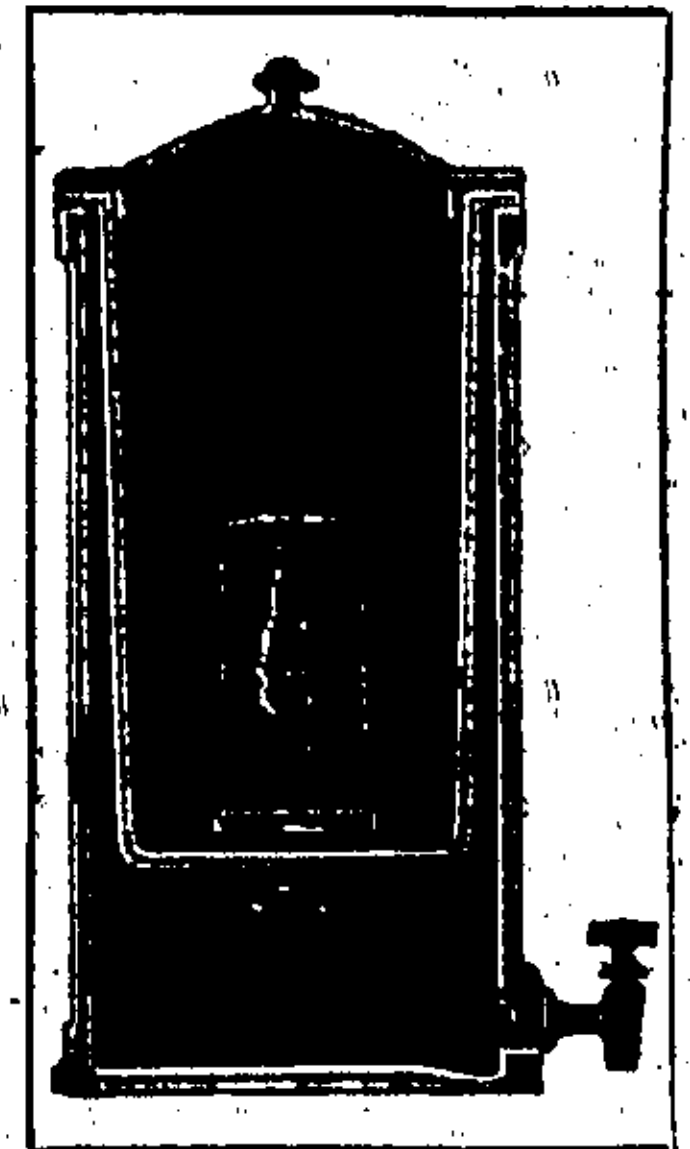

Geneva, October 5.

The Committee of three appointed by the League Council to supervise preparations for the Saar plebiscite, of which the chief task in October will be the continuation of the examination of the questions arising out of the French memorandum, has requested the finance committee of the League to assemble at the earliest possible date in order to investigate various matters of a financial character. The Finance Committee will probably meet in the middle of October to draw up a report on these questions which mainly concern the question of compensations that be made after the Saar territory's eventual reunion with Germany—Transocean Kuo Min.

The high degree of admiration on the part of the Swiss people towards these artistic productions was evinced on the opening day by a young Swiss girl student who, besides showing her unbounded appreciation by purchasing on the spot three pictures at high prices, announced that she would come to China shortly to study Chinese paintings.

WIDER SERVICE FOR ROTARY

According to a report in one of the American papers, one of the most diverting pastimes of the intelligent is endangered, for scoffing at "Rotarianism" is already on the way out. During recent years so many more glaring targets have come to light in the social and economic structures that we have heard considerably fewer criticisms of the Rotary Clubs for indulging in what has been termed as "pseudo ethics," "puerile culture." There is absolutely no ground for such charges and should the suggestions for improvements just made on the invitation of Chicago Rotarians, by a committee of social scientists be followed then there will be even less excuse for these allegations. While paying tribute to the ideals and services of Rotary, the committee declares that "fellowship of the old type is not enough" and calls upon the business men in these clubs to take full advantage of the present opportunities for wider usefulness and more responsible leadership. So far as the "luncheon club sociability" is concerned, it frankly points to one of the dangers thus:

"Such a group easily becomes self-satisfied, self-contained, snobbish, cloistered, isolated, and withdrawn from the outside world and its problems. The broader social consciousness and sensitivity of its members may be dulled by this type of pleasant association."

This is a criticism that merits the attention of individuals as well as organizations far beyond the international borders of Rotary for it is a hazard that every one of us is open to in our over-organized and departmentalized society. At this point it is worth reminding that one of the original ideas of Rotary was to break down all barriers by including in its member-

ROYAL WEDDING TROUSSEAU

To Be Made In England

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Sept. 20.
Princess Marina has decided that her trousseau shall be made in this country, and, so far as it is possible, from British materials. This information is conveyed by "Marianne Mayfayre," the writer adds that the Princess has made it her custom for some years to purchase a considerable portion of her wardrobe in England.

She will consult the Queen before making any decision with regard to her wedding-gown, which she proposes largely to design for herself, as well as those of the bridesmaids.

ship roll representatives of almost every walk of life. It must be said that this scheme has had the desired effect in that it has brought together banker and manufacturer, lawyers and doctors and has helped many a man engaged in his own business to widen his social and civic horizon.

Indeed, the present recommendations should be considered less as confirmation of former criticisms of Rotary than as an opening for further extension of already expansive activities. The goal is that broader fellowship which Rotary has always sought. Of one thing there can be no doubt and that is the open-minded thinking exhibited by many Rotarians and by the organization's excellent magazine which is already carrying out the proposal for a less hesitant discussion of controversial matters. Certainly, also, business as a whole must have gained through recent trials a less vulnerable interpretation of the famous "service" slogan.

The political scientists dig right into the question of service versus profit, and advocate a self-respecting regard for profit. This is a wholesome attitude, for unless we are to have a socialist economy, profit is essential. The real difficulty is that in the past business men—Rotarians no more than others—have too often thought of profit in terms of material wealth alone. Frequently they have advocated service only as a lure to profit. Fundamentally this attitude is one of getting rather than giving. A truer concept sees profit in service itself. The preaching and practice of this view of service still affords Rotary and similar organizations a splendid opportunity for usefulness.

CHINA'S GREAT SAGE

Celebrations In Hong Kong

Yesterday was the 2485th anniversary (Lunar Calendar) of the birth of Confucius, the great Chinese philosopher and teacher, who lived between 551 B.C. and 478 B.C. at the time of the Chow Dynasty, when the country was divided into a number of small kingdoms.

Although the Nanking Nationalist Government officially celebrated Confucius' birthday on the 27th August last, many Chinese schools and the majority of Confucianists in the Colony celebrated the sage's birthday yesterday.

It appears, however, that the holding of two celebrations has somewhat reduced the enthusiasm of the people, who celebrated the anniversary yesterday. Outwardly, there was less bunting and flags displayed, and there was also a marked absence of theatricals, "band" and theatrical displays by the different Chinese schools but inwardly, it is safe to say that the love and respect for China's greatest sage was the same if not deeper and more sincere.

The day was observed as a general holiday amongst the Chinese in the Colony. It was also a school holiday and business in the Chinese quarters of the Colony was practically at a standstill, flags and bunting decorations adorned the outside of many of the Chinese shops and buildings.

In the morning, the main celebration was held at the Tai Ping Theatre, under the auspices of the local Confucian Society. The building was packed with people, the greater part of those present being school boys and girls, pupils of the free schools, maintained by that Society.

The chief feature of the ceremony was the "kow tow" before the portrait of Confucius, which was hung in the centre of the stage. The small boys filed past one by one and bowed reverently before the portrait of the great sage, and after the ceremony, the Chairman of the Confucian Association gave an address to the large gathering on the Works of Confucius.

The Chinese department stores and big firms also observed the occasion with a holiday, but musical concerts usually given by firms in the different business areas were curtailed on account of the trade depression.

ALIVE TO WAR DANGER

Frank Statement By Mr. Chamberlain

London, October 4.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer, Mr. Neville Chamberlain made a statement in the course of a discussion on Imperial Defence at the Conservative Party Conference at Bristol to-day.

"The Chancellor" said Britain had done her best, by precept and example, to get other countries to reduce their armaments but had failed.

"We are still trying to keep peace, and remove the causes of anxiety and suspicion. But this Government has felt, in view of the fact that after all these years no appreciable progress has been made towards disarmament, that it was quite incompatible with their duty to this country to leave our defences in the condition in which they are to-day."

"We have made a prolonged investigation of the state of defences not merely of Britain, but of the whole Empire, because we have to defend not merely our own land but also our trade routes and Dominions. We have made a definite announcement about the Air Force, because we feel that the Air Service differs from others in that attack from the air is one which might affect every man, woman or child."

"We have put forward plans under which this country will spend approximately £20,000,000 in the course of this and the four succeeding years in bringing up the number of squadrons of aeroplanes for home defence from 42 to 75 squadrons."

British Wireless.

NEWS AND COMMENTS FROM THE NORTH

Kwangtung's New Protective Tariff

(From Our Own Correspondent)

Shanghai, Sept. 22.

It has been reported, says the "China Times," that the Kwangtung Provincial Government recently enacted a new protective tariff law, imposing duty not only on all imports of foreign origin, but also on goods from other provinces. At the same time it is also learned that the Shansi Provincial Government passed a similar measure, restricting imports into that province, such restrictions applying not only to foreign imports but also to products from other provinces. It might be expedient, continues the Shanghai Journal, for independent countries, as national economic units, to enforce protective tariffs against imports from other nations, but to erect such barriers against the products of other provinces of the same country is little short of an outrage. The Kwangtung and Shansi authorities may take the view that what they are doing is necessary for building up a sound economic system in their respective provinces, but no impartial observer can fail to censure the narrow-minded provincialism that threatens to undermine the economic structure of China.

An Economic Unit

Provinces are merely administrative units under the direction and control of the Central Government, the highest authority in the State. In order to build up a strong Central Government, its administrative units must pledge full support to it in all matters, so that whatever is done should take into consideration the interests of the nation as a whole. Accordingly, a State must always be regarded as an economic unit. While it is often a sound policy for a country to protect its native industries by raising tariffs against foreign imports, and so promoting the interests of the nation, the policy of the Kwangtung and Shansi authorities merely concentrates on their own interests, regardless of the most obvious detriment to the national economy. They have, as a matter of fact, preferred the province to the State; and one can only hope that such misguided efforts ostensibly aimed to protect home industries, will be soon corrected, before they produce economic confusion and ruin.

Commenting on the same action of the Kwangtung authorities, the "Central China Daily News" also deplores this narrow-minded policy. If the Kwangtung imposition of a high tariff on imports from other provinces, should provoke retaliatory action from the latter, then, the Journal points out, each province would become a separate economic bloc, and there would be the intolerable position of having domestic economic warfare.

Enemies Of Unity

Economic wars no less than armed conflicts are potent enemies of unity in this country, and that tragedy should imperatively be avoided. In one effect alone—the retarding of economic development—it will suffice to bring ruin to the nation, and one can readily recall the instance of Prussia and the German States in the 19th century, which then followed a policy very similar to that of Kwangtung to-day, with the result that absolutely no economic development in any of those states took place until such policy was rejected.

China to-day is gripped by an economic crisis of great severity, which is mainly due to the burden of too much irregular local taxation pressing on the population. So long as these taxes exist, the hope of developing home industries is cut of question and the latest measure of the Kwangtung authorities reveal a retrograde outlook that is far from creditable to that very progressive and usually enlightened body.

MASS TRIAL IN MEMEL TERRITORY

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")

(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1934. Received, October 5, 4.30 p.m.)

Kovno, October 5.

One hundred and twenty four defendants will appear before a Court martial in a mass trial of members of prohibited German political parties in Memel territory of which the leaders are Neuman and Baron Sass. Eighty six of the accused who are charged with subversive activities are under arrest while the remaining forty are held under police supervision. A further fifteen persons who are accused are not included in the trial as their whereabouts are unknown. The bill of indictment consists of five hundred and fifty pages while the materials forming evidence fills thirty three volumes. The date of the trial is as yet unknown, since it can be only fixed after a lapse of a week from the handing of the indictment to accused on October 5.—Transocean Kuo Min.

MOSCOW PROPOSALS

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright))

Amsterdam, Oct. 4.

Proposals aiming at the amalgamation of two Internationals have been submitted by the Third or Moscow International to Paris, the headquarters of the Second or Amsterdam International which is also known as International Association of Trade Unions, according to Press reports here on Thursday.

This sensational step by Moscow is evidently dictated by the new international policy of the Soviets, resulting from her alliance with France and her entry into the League of Nations and which she will now try as a check to the compromising activities of the leaders of the Communist movement in France and the "Little Entente" countries by allowing them to unite with Socialist organisations.—Transocean Kuo Min.

PREMIER RETURNS TO LONDON

Feels Much Better After His Holiday

London, October 4.

When the Prime Minister reached London to-day after his three months' holiday, on doctor's orders, in Canada he was met by the Lord Chancellor, Lord Sankey; the Foreign Secretary, Sir John Simon; the Dominions Secretary, Mr. J. H. Thomas many officials and friends, and a large crowd of Londoners who gave him a warm welcome.

Mr. MacDonald said he was glad to be back and felt much better after his holiday. He will tomorrow be examined by his physician, Lord Borden, and his oculist, Sir Steward Duke Elder.—British Wireless.

NATIONAL GOVERNMENT RESIGNATIONS

Dr. Lo Wen Kan To Retire To Private Life

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Nanking, Oct. 5. Following the Central Political Council's decision on Wednesday amalgamating the Ministry of Justice and the Judicial Yuan, Minister Lo Wen Kan tendered his resignation, announcing his intention to return to his native district in Kwangtung on retirement to private life in order to devote himself to writings on Jurisprudence.

Dr. Lo is reported to be firmly determined and the Government will probably accept his resignation. It is rumored that Chu Cheng, President of the Judicial Yuan, probably will recommend Hsien Kwang Shen, Chief Secretary, as Dr. Lo's successor.

Dr. Lo has been Minister of Justice ever since the Ministry was placed under the Executive Yuan in January 1933 and currently Foreign Minister up to June 1933. He has rendered conspicuous service in improvement of prison conditions during his ministerial tenure. Early he distinguished himself for political activities against militarists in the Peking regime for which he suffered imprisonment.

His resignation is much regretted in Government circles but there is no political significance though Vice-Ministers Cheng Tien Hsi and Shih Chin Huen are also resigning.

TRIP TO ROME POSTPONED

Barthou To Meet King Alexander

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, October 5, 4.30 p.m.)

Paris, October 5. Political circles here admit the postponement of Barthou's Rome trip till after the Paris discussions with King Alexander, of Yugoslavia, who left Belgrade for France last night. The discussions are expected to be held on October 9. King Alexander is proceeding to the Dalmatian coast and then journeying to Corsica on board the torpedo-destroyer "Dubrovnik." The French Mediterranean Fleet will escort the monarch to Marseilles.

Paris considers the matter of King Alexander's forthcoming visit as of "greatest importance" and it is believed that the upshot of the Paris discussions will in marked degree influence Barthou's projected discussions with Mussolini.

EARLIER NEWS

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Paris, October 4. No official confirmation of the London Press reports concerning the alleged postponement of M. Barthou's much heralded visit to Rome is obtainable here but news received from Rome seem to corroborate the reports.

According to political circles here, the postponement has been decided upon because the preliminary negotiations for settling the various controversial questions have not yet reached a point to warrant the expediency of direct discussions between Barthou and Mussolini.

For one thing, the French Colonial Administration is stated to have raised serious objections to concessions which the Foreign Ministry prepared, granting privileges to Italian nationals in Tunis. Barthou, moreover, is reported to be desirous of gaining time for the proposed mediation between Italy and Yugoslavia.

LIVES LOST ON THE ROADS

London, Oct. 4. For some time, the Transport Ministry, with the object of impressing on the public the gravity of the traffic problem, have published weekly lists of road fatalities. Many drastic measures have been introduced recently to ensure greater care on the part of road-users, both motorists and pedestrians.

The figures published to-day show that 30 fewer lives were lost on the roads of Britain last week than in the week preceding—131 against 161—and was the smallest total for the last five months.

GENERAL STRIKE IN SPAIN

War To The Knife With Lerroux Government

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, October 5, 4.30 p.m.)

Madrid, October 5. "Twenty four hours general strike beginning Friday." This is the reply of the Left Extremists to the new Lerroux Government, which for the first time since Spain has turned Republican, includes Catholic forces. Not only the Marxists, but the so-called moderates of the Left are infuriated. They declare the composition of the new regime to be a scandal and seem determined to wage war to the knife on the Lerroux Government, which is awaiting developments with comparative calm. The government is well prepared for all emergencies.

The general strike started promptly at midnight. All buses and tram cars are at a standstill and this morning the city is without newspapers. The entire town is in the grip of feverish excitement. Last night the atmosphere was filled with electricity; excited groups were seen discussing events; snatching the latest bulletins out of the hands of "news-boys" while the Police still had difficulty in dispersing crowds.

Serious clashes occurred between the Police and demonstrators early this morning and at several places, shots rang out into the dawn. Two hundred persons were arrested and a score were injured but thus far only three were killed. Further complications are anticipated.

"BETRAYAL OF REPUBLIC"

Madrid, October 4. A general strike has been proclaimed throughout Spain by the Socialist Trade Unions as a protest against the inclusion of three Catholics in the new Cabinet formed by Senor Lerroux. Trams and taxis have disappeared from the streets of Madrid and Trade Union leaders declared that work would be at a standstill on Friday.

Serious rioting is reported from the suburbs, but the new Home Secretary declares that all precautions have been taken.

The appointment of the Catholic Ministers has also incensed the Left Republicans, who immediately declared a boycott on the President, Senor Zamora, describing the appointments as a betrayal of the Republic.

POLICE RAIDS

Madrid, Oct. 5. Three were killed and seven seriously injured in the night shooting. Four hundred were arrested. The police besieged a house from where distribution of arms had been arranged and they arrested two hundred calling for arms and also confiscated a good store of weapons.

All shops are closed except the dairies. Trams, taxis and underground trains have stopped and only buses are running escorted by police. Only two newspapers are published, thanks to non-union labour.

There is no news from the provinces, but unconfirmed reports state there is trouble in Seville and Barcelona.

SITUATION IN FRANCE

Soviet Press Comment

(Special to "Hong Kong Daily Press")
(By Telegraph, Copyright, Telegraphic Messages Ordinance, 1894. Received, October 5, 7.30 p.m.)

Moscow, Oct. 5. The inter-political situation in France and the reform plans of the French Government form the subject of strong articles in the daily Russian Press. The chief themes present the newly formed Communist Socialist front of France. The "Pravda" emphasises that French workers must realise that a union of all forces represents a power capable of completely over-riding reaction. The bourgeois parties are already greatly disturbed by the terms the Communists have granted the Socialists for co-operation.

The present situation being so strained, the Communists have undoubtedly won a great victory by a union with the Socialists. The French proletariat, continues the "Pravda," would soon be quite clear about the practical advantage of a united front in a struggle against the forces of reaction.

MUSSOLINI IN MILAN

Many Public Functions

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Milan, October 4. Sig. Mussolini arrived here on Thursday for a three-day stay after which he will make an extensive tour of northern Italy, covering what is known as "Italy's Economic Triangle," the banking, manufacturing and commercial centres of Milan, Turin and Genoa, as well as many other cities.

The tour is expected to have great effect on the population of these industrial regions. Despite rainy weather a vast crowd had assembled in the station to greet Il Duce who proceeded through the streets gaily decked with bunting and festoons and through a seventy-foot high triumphal arch erected in his honour, to the city park where he reviewed fifteen thousand peasants and farm labourers of Lombardy in their characteristic costumes.

During his stay here, Mussolini will inaugurate several new public buildings, inspect many factories and five thousand officers of the Fascist militia and will wind up with a political speech which he will deliver on Saturday at a mass meeting on the big square in front of the famous Cathedral.

The question of the pamphlet issued by the Press Bureau of the War Office is considered to be closed with War Minister Hayashi's explanation at to-day's Cabinet meeting that the pamphlet was one of those issued by the War Office to the Press Bureau from time to time to increase popular knowledge of national defence.

General Hayashi flatly denied the rumour that the War Ministry intend to execute various measures suggested in the pamphlet.

The pamphlet advocated intensification of national defence in view of the 1935-36 crisis and inferentially asserted that Japan was threatened by foreign countries, notably Russia and the United States.

FAMOUS CLUBS ON THE SLIDE

Why Villa And Huddersfield Disappoint

(Special Air Mail Service)

London, Sept. 20. For the first time this season First Division clubs have had a week without a League match. This has given over-worked training staffs a chance to cope with the many players who are already suffering injuries, writes a correspondent. I imagine some stock-taking has also been done at various venues.

In some quarters the results already achieved have exceeded expectations. Preston North End, for instance, have done remarkably well to win four of their five games. In other quarters there is cause for bewilderment.

Huddersfield Town and Aston Villa, two of the great clubs, have started off very poorly. I anticipated some trouble for the Town. The trouble has exceeded my anticipations.

The Leeds Road executive have now tried Bottrill, Beech and Willingham at inside-right. The problem remains and to make matters worse, the defence is not playing as it used to do.

I understand that Roy Goodall is likely to be off for quite a few weeks yet. You will see that Clem Stephenson and his directors have something on their minds at the present juncture.

The Town are on the search. Good players are hard to find, however, and the club will be lucky if they land the men they need without spending heavily.

Grimsby Town's advent at Huddersfield is not by any means a certain win for the home team. Only Sunderland have really mastered the Grimsby defence. I am taking Tweedy, Kelly, Jacobson and Betmard as good enough defenders to hold the Huddersfield attack.

The Villa Slump
Aston Villa's recent efforts are the talk of the Midlands. They have lost five goals against the Wolves and the same number against Leicester City. Unless I am greatly mistaken these sides are not quite in the top flight. What's wrong at Villa Park?

When the club signed Jimmy Allen I knew they were getting a good player. I did not think he would cure all the Villa's ills. These days one man doesn't make a team.

The only conclusion I can arrive at in this matter is that Aston Villa will need other new players. I reckon George Beeson, a good back; Jimmy Allen, a good centre-half; Jimmy McMullan, as team manager needs time before he can work any wonders.

Some of the changes made by the Villa leave me quite unimpressed, and I can only add that a false value seems to have been given to certain performers there.

In their present mood the Claret and Blues are likely to run into trouble against Sunderland. The Wearers have something to rub off. They lost heavily at Villa Park in the Cup last season. The Roker side is moving sweetly, and it looks like being their game.

Sunderland are setting a merry pace and in several minds must be linked with Arsenal and Manchester City as title contenders.

The Arsenal were not convincing against Leeds United but they got an away point. The Highbury difficulty, I think, is that Grayston and Copp have not quite mastered the art of turning defence into quick attack. Charlie Johns and Bob John were adept at this.

Then the wingers are not getting these surprise passes which save them a clear run for a devastating descent on the other fellow's goal.

You can't put new pistons in the engine and expect sweet running right away. Just the same I am fancying the Arsenal to master West Bromwich Albion.

The Throstles were not too pleased with their defence when the season opened but it's the attack now which isn't giving satisfaction.

Test For City Backs
Manchester City quickly recovered their winning ways at Birmingham and I expect a fine game will see them meet Stoke City at Maine Road.

There were over 80,000 people on the ground when these sides met in the Cup last season. The Mancunians won, you remember, when a long centre from Eric Brook curled under the bar and deceived Roy John. That was all the scoring.

This season the Potters are playing a cleverer brand of football but their advance is not quite so phenomenal as that of their opponents.

In this game the Dale-Barkas full back partnership will get a test against two good wingers in Matthews and Johnson. I am afraid, however, that the Stoke defence will not stand up to the whirlwind advances of the home forwards and half-backs.

The game between Chelsea and the Spurs at Stamford Bridge won't excite many people outside of London.

Chelsea are in the old groove. No wonder they are out to add to their expensive collection of stars. The Spurs are falling in their finishing work but their all-round virility should earn them the points.

Yet another local meeting is that of Derby County and Leicester City at the Baseball Ground. The Rams came badly out of their game against Stoke and this ten-goals-in-two-games Leicester forward line is a problem for the County defence.

The promptings of Arthur Lochhead and the opportunism of Arthur Chandler, allied to good wing play by Summers and Liddle will test Tom Cooper and George Collin, but I have a sneaking fancy for the home team.

Liverpool Rivals
Merseyside never fails to thrill in response to the meeting of Everton and Liverpool. So will Goodison Park be full for the latest encounter.

The great day finds Liverpool rather badly placed. There are too many injured forwards at Anfield and the attack showed little rhythm against Portsmouth. The Anfielders, I know, rise to the occasion, but this time Everton look the better equipped side.

For a promoted team, Preston North End are doing famously. There are plenty of people around who will tell you that this side is flattered by their pointage. The thing is that games are being won. Confidence comes that way.

Up to now the North End impress me as being best served in defence. Lowe and Tremelling are very steady. In the attack are possible problems. Because of this the Wolves may win the game at Molineux.

Robust back play and quick tackling by the home half will check the aspirations of Jimmy Maxwell and the other visiting forwards.

Sheffield Wednesday are hardly living up to their good opening. The trouble is general and you cannot say that one department is weaker than another.

The defence is not steady under pressure. The half-backs have lost their constructive ideas. The forwards are not moving sweetly. In this mood the Owls do not impress at Blackburn.

The Rovers themselves have deficiencies. Maybe they have anxieties ahead. They should win this game.

Leeds Improvement
Leeds United, for the time being, have turned the corner. All the old fire was seen against the Arsenal. The defence has improved considerably and the half-back work of Hills, Hart and Neal was much better organised than in earlier games. Even so I cannot liken the Peacocks to winners at Portsmouth.

The old understanding is still being shown by Pompey. They make passes without hitting their heads and they always meet their men.

Two wins then three defeats. Birmingham have not kept up the good work. It is a great compliment to Joe Bradford that he remains the number one forward at St. Andrew's. It is not a feat without significance for the club.

These Midlands will put up a good show at Middlesbrough, but I don't think they are clever enough to avoid a beating.

IN QUEST OF GLORY

Hong Kong Team Leave

Flying the Hong Kong Cricket Club flag on her foremast, the R. M. S. Empress of Asia left yesterday with the Interport Cricket Team on board. They are on their way to Shanghai to try conclusions, once again, with our Northern rivals and when interviewed, Mr. T. E. Pearce, chairman of the selection committee who also sailed as a member of the team, expressed confidence of being able to come home, not only with the Hong Kong flag, but also with the Shanghai one too.

Promptly at 11 a.m. the team, together with a party of supporters left Queen's Pier on the launch, Teen Cheung and amongst those present to bid the team bon voyage and good luck were Messrs. A. W. Hayward, L. S. Greenhill, E. R. Duckitt, A. H. Harbord and Dr. Hassan el Arculli. Many ladies including Mesdames Pearce, Mitchell, Owen Hughes, Pereira and Miss L. Madar were also present. Mrs. Pearce presented the team with a mascot in the form of a toy dog.

And The Tiger!
The scene at the wharf as the good ship steamed out was an animated one. Streamers galore and handkerchiefs were very much in evidence and the crowd on the wharf gave the team three hearty cheers and the "tiger". Not to be outdone, the team replied in a very spirited manner.

The Polo Team
Also sailing by the "Asa" were members of the Shanghai Polo team who are returning to the Northern port after their win over the Colony in the interport encounter.

RACE MEETING

ran an excellent race under Charles at the last meeting and will be all out to repeat that performance to-day. He should get very close. Of the others, I like Racing Boy, who is in the pink of condition at the moment. The pony, however, is running slightly out of his class. For those who would like to back an outsider, Beta, The Tiger and Flying Tourist are good.

RECORD IN DANGER
The mile record for Australian ponies is likely to be lowered this afternoon when all the best Australian sprinters will be out in the Canberra Handicap. Able Amazon carries top weight at 165 pounds and will be called upon to make tremendous concessions to the rest of the field. It is probable that she may abstain, if she starts, she should win.

In the absence of Able Amazon the next highest weight will be carried by Bronze Era, who, from what I have seen lately, is as fit as ever. The pony, to win, will have to go all out for there are several here who will extend him. One such is Racing Heart, who has improved remarkably lately. Another is Just That, whose great effort in the five furlongs is still fresh in the minds of racegoers. High Finance has been moving beautifully during the past fortnight and may be responsible for an upset, while Nell Gwyn, the holder of the record, is sure to make a big attempt to retain her superiority. There should be a rattling good race. The jockeys for this race are as follows:—Bronze Era (Davis) - High Finance (P. P. Botelho), Just That (Soares), Nell Gwyn (Pronk), Racing Heart (Black), Mutiny Bay (Deitz) and finally either Able Amazon or Night Star (Butler). If the ground conditions are favourable, the race will be won in 1.45 or so.

COLOMBO'S PROSPECTS
The last race of the day will be a problem for punters, because there are no outstanding candidates. I would plump on Hey Tor, except for the fact that he is carrying 160 pounds and is not much good in any distance over a mile. Still the opposition is not very strong and a place appears probable. Colombo may find things to his liking as he will be running at only 148 pounds. Festival Eve at 155 pounds is another pony which appeals to me, while Vago may prove to be a good thing for a "long shot".

If Racing Triumph (who is carrying top weight) takes it into his head to run, he should account for this race. I mention this in case any reader would like some outsider on which to bet in the last race of the day. The pony, however, is moody and seldom runs well in a race.

LADIES HOCKEY ASSOCIATION

Mrs. T. E. Pearce Elected President

Mrs. T. E. Pearce was elected the first President of the Hong Kong Ladies Hockey Association, who held their first annual general meeting at Lane Crawford's Restaurant yesterday evening before a large and representative gathering presided over by Miss T. Knill.

Miss Knill in her report stated that two representatives from each Club competing in the Caer Clark Cup matches were present at the inaugural meeting of the Hong Kong Ladies Hockey Association, held at Lane Crawford's Restaurant.

It was decided that the Association take over the responsibilities of competitive Ladies hockey in the Colony including the Caer Clark Cup Competition and as there were possibilities of an interport, it was decided that the Association should consider means of raising funds for such.

With regard to the Caer Clark Cup Champions versus the Rest game, thanks are due to Mr. Walter Pryde, Hon. Secretary of the Hong Kong Football Club, without whose untiring efforts and interest the Association could not have had their present balance in the Bank, and to the Press for their help.

The thanks of the Association were also due to Mr. Mamak for presenting spoons to the winners of the match and to the umpires Messrs. G. T. Palmer and J. T. K. Giffchrist.

Miss Knill said that they had written to the Shanghai Ladies Hockey Association inviting them to participate in an interport contest here during the next season and were now awaiting a reply.

In this connection Miss Knill thought it would be a good idea if all the affiliated Clubs made a concentrated attempt to raise funds in the eventuality of an interport to cover such expenses. Each Club should at least be able to raise a sum of $5.

Miss Knill said she had been in communication with Miss J. Dalziel at Home and as a result of which suggested that they should run a seven-a-side tournament.

After the proposal had been considered the meeting voted unanimously in favour of it and December 8 was fixed for the first seven-a-side tournament.

The venue would be decided at a later date. In this connection Miss Knill said that their newly elected President, Mrs. T. E. Pearce had kindly consented to present a challenge Cup.

Election of Officers

MEDICINE AND MEDICOS

Louis Pasteur Starts Life As Teacher

The following is the third instalment of the talk on "Medical and Medicos: Ancient and Modern" given by Prof. L. J. Davis at the University.

Probably the most luminous example of a nineteenth century scientist conferring great gifts upon medicine was the Frenchman, Louis Pasteur. He was born in 1822 of humble parentage and died in 1895 honoured by France and by all the civilized world. He started life as a teacher of chemistry and physics in a provincial school. His first scientific interests were in connection with certain problems of crystal formation. He then became interested in the difficulties experienced by the local brewery, his introduction to pathology being then, by the way of diseases not of man but of beer. During the next few years, he devoted himself to the investigation of the nature of fermentation. He eventually proved to the doubting world that this action is dependant upon the "presence" of certain microscopic living organisms. He further proved that the action of each kind of organism was specific for the type of fermentation produced. By "serious" experiments he disproved the then commonly held theory of spontaneous generation of microbe life; for he demonstrated that however favourable the pabulum, it remained free from microbes if the access of the germs were prevented. Pasteur's interest was next absorbed by a disease of silk-worms which was causing great distress in the silk-worm industry, an important one in France. He proved that the disease was due to a specific micro-organism. So, in 1868, for the first time in the world's history, became established the microbe conception of infectious disease. It is of interest to note that microbes were first seen and described some two hundred years previously, by van Leeuwenhoek, a Dutch spectacle maker, who perfected the art of grinding very small simple lens of high magnification.

Pasteur now began to turn his attention to the diseases of the higher animals including man. The first disease he studied was one affecting chickens, called fowl typhoid or chicken cholera. He found that he could grow the microbes in the laboratory in flasks of broth. A drop of such a broth culture inoculated into a healthy fowl would cause the bird to develop the disease. He then stumbled on the striking discovery that if fowls were infected with old cultures in which the microbes had become dead or feeble, not only did no disease ensue, but the fowls were now resistant to the subsequent injection of fresh active cultures of the microbes.

Thus did Pasteur lay the foundation stone of the important science of immunity. Working out a technique along similar lines he was able to immunize thousands of sheep against the deadly disease known as anthrax.

Research Work
Since then it has become possible to immunize man against many diseases, of which the most familiar example is typhoid fever. Pasteur by this time had become emancipated from his teaching duties, money had been raised to enable him to devote his whole time to bacteriological research. The imagination of the French public had been stirred by the possibilities of curing and preventing disease in man by means of this new science. Pasteur was elected a member of the French Academy of Medicine although he was not a medical man. His further scientific career was marked by a series of triumphant discoveries of which the most spectacular was the discovery of a method of treating successfully human cases of the dreaded rabies or hydrophobia. Among the first of his cases was a group of Russian peasants, who, all badly bitten by a mad wolf, tra-

NEWSPAPERS BANNED

From Our Special Correspondent

Canton, Oct. 5.
Orders from the Ministry of Railways and the Ministry of Communications to ban the transmission of the "China Times," a Chinese vernacular newspaper published in the International Settlement of Shanghai, were received here by a government office.

The Post Office is instructed to deny postal facilities to the "China Times" and the "China Press," which is published in English. Now all the Chinese steamship lines and railways throughout the country are instructed not to carry these two newspapers.

Police officials in all cities are ordered to keep a sharp watch on these papers and to prevent their transmission. These papers are banned because they published the use of the American wheat loan for military purpose and the investigation of the munitions racket; by Senator Nye.

velled in desperation to Paris beseeching Pasteur's aid. He saved sixteen of the nineteen. The world was thrilled, and the Tsar of All the Russias sent 100,000 francs to start the building of the laboratory now known as the Pasteur Institute.

Reference to this pioneer work in bacteriology would be one-sided were no mention made of Pasteur's brilliant German contemporary, Robert Koch, who however, appeared on the scientific firmament a few years later than Pasteur. Unlike Pasteur, Koch had a medical training and was a district medical officer when he began his researches on the bacteriology of anthrax. His early triumphs, though perhaps lacking the inspirational genius of Pasteur, were based upon the thoroughness and brilliance of his technique. He it was, who by a most painstaking and brilliant series of experiments, showed that tuberculosis, aptly named the white scourge of humanity, was an infective disease due to a specific microbe. Like Pasteur, Koch also was enabled by the proper appreciation of his govern-

Smuggling Work Alleged

From Our Special Correspondent

Canton, Oct. 5.

The Chinese Preventive service has seized a 18-ton motor boat with a Japanese name on the ground that it was engaged in smuggling along the West River near Shum Tek. Great excitement was created because it was alleged that Japanese were involved in the smuggling.

It is learned to-day that the motor vessel was sold by the Japanese owner to Chinese interests in Keelung, Formosa on September 12. The ship under the charge of five Japanese seamen left Keelung for Hong Kong, where upon two members of the crew left the ship and returned to Formosa. The other three sailors wished to continue their services and were re-employed.

According to Japanese consular sources, the three remaining Japanese seamen were engineers. When the vessel was seized by the preventive service, a consular official pointed out, it was a Chinese vessel, which was seized on September 29.

The ship was suspected to have made several trips between Hong Kong and towns along the West River. The Chinese preventive service sent a gunboat to chase after the motor junk and then turned it over to the Chinese Maritime Customs. The three Japanese seamen were handed over to the Japanese consulate general.

ment to devote himself to experimental research in a well-equipped institute built for him in Berlin. To Koch, more than to any man is due the working out of the difficult technique of experimental bacteriology.

"DOUBLE TENTH"

Aerial Display In Canton

From Our Special Correspondent

Canton, Oct. 5.

Celebrations of the Double Tenth on October 10 this year in honour of the twenty-third anniversary of the Chinese Republic will be the biggest event here in the history of the Kuomintang regime, it was officially announced to-day.

The Canton Air Force will give a big aerial demonstration on that day between 2 p.m. to 4 p.m. at the Tin Ho aerodrome. All the available planes will take part in the demonstration, while all sorts of aerial feats will be exhibited.

In preparation for the great show-off over forty aeroplanes flew over Canton this morning in mass formation. There were bombers, fighters, scouting and pursuit planes. So many machines were flying at the same time that they created a big roaring sound and attracted attention of the people in the streets.

A new shipment of aeroplanes have arrived here from the United States, and if they are assembled in time the new ships will take part in the air show on October 10. At the same time the bombers are practising bombing while the pursuit planes try to drive them away. To achieve good marksmanship, the pursuit plane pilots are learning "looping the loop," "falling leaves" and all the latest stunts.

On the morning of the national fete, the statue of the late Dr. Wu Ting Fang at Yuet Shau Hill will be unveiled in a fitting ceremony to be participated in by the high officials here. Dr. Wu was stricken with illness in 1920 while escaping with Dr. Sun Yat Sen from the death trap planned by the late General Chen Chiung Ming.

S. E. Levy &amp; Co.'s Cables

The following cabled reports were furnished by Messrs. S. E. Levy & Co. last night:

American Weather Report, 6 P.M.

Cotton: A tropical storm is raging off the mouth of the Mississippi with winds blowing at seventy miles per hour. It is now moving northwards and is commencing to drench the East and Central. The weather in the West is remaining fine and warm.

Grain: The grain belts continue to be very mild.

The Market

Favourable factors were:—1. Indications of a more conservative turn to the Administration's policies, with reports that the N.R.A. is considering the abandonment of the "Blue Eagle" and price fixing. 2. The market displays good resistance to scattered

Liquidation. 3. The strength of Government bonds is bolstering sentiment.

Unfavourable factors:—1. The absence of a strong revival in trade is somewhat disappointing. 2. Nervous selling of some California issues on the political situation in that State is unsettling but it is believed that the movement is subsiding.

Wall Street opened firm. Yesterday's late rally was resumed, with advances of from fractions to one point predominating. A moderate extension in the upturn seems to be indicated, but in the absence of any stimulating outside developments, a sustained advance at present is not anticipated.

London Silver: Spot 22 5/8, up 1/8; Forward 22 3/4, up 1/8.

London Silver Comment: Speculators bought and afterwards sold at the advance. Market closed quietly steady.

GERMAN SHARE MARKET

(Special to the "Hong Kong Daily Press" (Copyright).)

Berlin, Oct. 4.

The sharemarket was decidedly weak while the fixed interest securities were increasingly firmer. Obviously the investors were changing the character of their holdings, prompted largely by the numerous public statements that the bond market should be supported and the belief that the Reichs Government is planning new measures designed to end in the general conversion of all fixed interest securities.

The most important class of these, namely, gold and mortgage bonds, at present stand at about 90 to 92.

Call Money 4 to 4½. Young Loan jumped 2½ to 95. Reichsbank 4½ firmer to 146½. Dyestuffs dropped 1 to 143½. Salzfutur Potash declined 1 to 155. German Steel Trusts 1 lower to 42½. German Mineral Oils slumped 1½ to 109½. Siemenshalske dropped 2 to 149. Bemberg Rayon weakened 1 to 129.

CHINESE FOOD LOAN

Alleged Use To Buy Munitions

(Special Air Mail Service)

New York, Sept. 20.

That China used an American loan with which to buy arms and ammunition for troops engaged in fighting Japan was stated to-day at the United States Senate investigation into the arms traffic. The money was lent by the Reconstruction Finance Corporation of the American Government, and was intended to permit China to buy American surplus wheat, but China apparently sent this wheat to other countries, including Italy, and received arms instead.

Members of the Senatorial Committee held a conference to-day with the Secretary of State and the Secretary of Commerce, Messrs. Hull and Roper, on problems developing from the investigation. There has been a flood of foreign protests against charges aired during the hearings.

PROFITTEERING TO STOP

Nanking, Sept. 20.

Determined to put an end to the activities of profiteers who take advantage of the food situation to line their purses, General Chiang Kai-Shek, President of the Military Affairs Commission, has ordered the Nanking Municipal Government to take drastic steps to prevent unscrupulous merchants from hoarding or raising the price of rice. This measure is deemed important in order to better regulate the food supply and maintain public peace and order in the capital.
